Federal Regulation 192.16 requires that we notify you to exercise diligence regarding underground or buried gas piping. Buried pipes may be subject to leaks and or corrosion (corrosion may occur on metallic pipe) and could potentially be subject to hazards if not maintained.

Riviera Utilities owns all gas piping up to the meter. The customer owns and is responsible for maintaining gas piping that is beyond the meter, whether the piping is above ground or underground.

Metallic lines may corrode if unprotected. If you own any underground or exposed, unprotected piping, it should be inspected periodically. If unsafe conditions or damage to a line are discovered, repairs should be made immediately. Plumbing contractors, heating contractors and Riviera Utilities can assist in locating, inspecting and repairing buried lines; however, since these lines do belong to you, costs may be involved. If you have any questions concerning the ownership of any piping, please contact Riviera Utilities for more information or visit our website @ www.rivierautilities.com

Any excavation near buried gas and other utility lines should be done by hand following the location of those lines. To have utility-owned lines located at no cost to you, contact Alabama 811 at 811 or 1-800-292-8525 at least two working days before you dig.
